

Our Approach to teaching.....

Religious Education

The subject of Religious Education (RE) is generally taught as a discrete subject. Links are made at relevant times of the year with religious festivals.

RE is also delivered through assembly times.

The library is well resourced to support the teaching of RE throughout school.

We use the Rotherham agreed syllabus for the teaching of RE.

We have strong links with St Thomas' Church in Rotherham and all the school visit together termly for a community service. The local vicar also visits school to strengthen links between school and the local community.

Children's individual religions are celebrated and they are encouraged to share aspects of their personal religion with their peers.

In EYFS religion is taught through religious celebrations such as Eid, Diwali, Christmas and Easter.
